A sight draft being payable on presentation (except in those states allowing days of grace), there is no need of formal acceptance. Acceptance is necessary in the case of time drafts, as they are not payable until the specified time after this acceptance. The acceptance of a draft makes the person or corporation accepting it liable to its owner for the amount, a draft being transferable by endorsement just as a check or a note. 997. In calculating the cost of a sight draft, days of grace--even when allowed--do not enter into the result, this being included in the rate charged. Time drafts are allowed days of grace, except in the states given in the Appendix, Art. 1305. The number of states in which days of grace are no longer allowed, increases yearly, there being no good reason for promising to pay...
